MOOSE OFFER CAR SERVICE

The Gettysburg Moose lodge today announced plans to again conduct an "Operation Easter Carlift" as part of the nation-wide program of the Moose to help make sure that everyone wishing to attend church on Easter may do so.

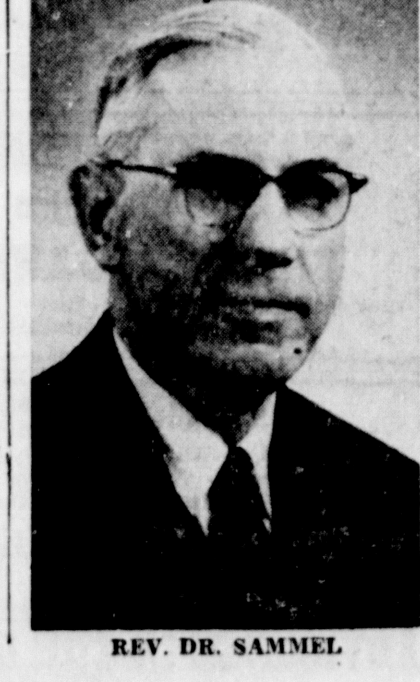

J. Russell Mummert, civic affairs chairman of the lodge, said cars will be made available by the Moose Sunday to drive anyone to and from the church of his choice for Easter services.

Last year a number of persons took advantage of the offer. Mummert said, "and we hope that we can be of service to even more people this year. We ask anyone who because of illness, disability, distance from church or other similar cause might otherwise not be able to go to church Sunday to call the Moose lodge in advance and we will have a car at their door when they wish."

Mummert said he has asked local clergymen to determine how many parishioners might need transportation.

Burgess William G. Weaver Tells Historical Society Of Early Town Ordinances

Old borough ordinances were reviewed by Burgess William G. Weaver for the Adams County Historical Society Tuesday evening and he pointed out that problems of borough government have not changed a great deal in nearly a century and a half.

"It is interesting to note that many of the problems that beset the borough fathers of our swaddling clothes days are still with us in 1955. It is of interest, yet not surprising," the Burgess continued, "when you pause to consider that streets, lighting, animals, fire, police, health and our citizens' conduct are always with us. Now they are on a more modern plane and operating at a faster tempo than in the past but they always have been and always will be the subject of all of our local legislation."

He pointed out that the street and alley widths established nearly two centuries ago by James Gettys have "set the pattern" down through the years and are mentioned in all of the modern street ordinances.

Cites Dog, Swine Ordinances

The Burgess devoted considerable time to ordinances and town developments related to the fire company and said: "Early laws of our town made it mandatory for every household to maintain a leather bucket for fire purposes and on the sounding of the alarm 'to repair to the scene of the fire' and join in the bucket brigade to keep the fire engine supplied with water."

Indicating that times haven't changed too much in some respect Weaver said: "One of the earlier ordinances passed by the town council in 1806 covered a subject that caused a lot of discussion at the March and April meetings of council in 1955. The subject was dogs. At the same time that a 'severe' ordinance was passed prohibiting swine from running at large, another was adopted 'to prevent the increase in dogs.' Perhaps rigid enforcement in 1806

A tractor smashed into the automobile in front of it Tuesday evening at 7:15 o'clock, causing damage estimated at $250. No injuries were reported. The accident took place in Hamilton Twp., 1/2 mile east of New Oxford.

IKE IS GIVEN PA. WELCOME BY WORLEYS

President Eisenhower received notice of his official welcome from the Legislature of Pennsylvania as a citizen of Adams County on Tuesday when Assemblyman and Mrs. Francis Worley visited him at his White House office at 1 p.m.

Mr. Worley handed the President a copy of the Pennsylvania resolution which Worley had introduced in January and then he and Mrs. Worley were photographed with the President at his desk.

The President chatted about his Pennsylvania connections, the ancestors that once lived in Lancaster County, his World War I days here and then got around to the President's farm. Ike said he wants to do more than live at the farm he wants "to get out and help do some of the work there."

Politics Not Mentioned

Politics was not discussed, Mr. Worley told newsmen as he left the White House.

Mrs. Eisenhower, who had expected to be there to receive her official welcome, had been detained at the farm here by the delayed arrival of rugs, draperies and other furnishings and could not be at the White House for the presentation.

Worley said the President seemed greatly pleased, and said so several times, with the resolution passed at Harrisburg.

Eligibility Undecided

Worley was quizzed by newsmen about Eisenhower's eligibility to vote here this year. Worley said he will be eligible in 1956 after he registers but would not express an opinion as to whether the one-year residence requirement will have been met by November. Because he is not yet registered he and Mamie would not be able to vote at the Primary in May.

An Associated Press dispatch from Washington today said decision as to whether the President and Mrs. Eisenhower can vote here in November rests with the Election Board and its counsel, Attorney E. V. Bulleit.

Bulleit was quoted as saying the question of Ike's eligibility "has not been submitted to me at all" and he declined any opinion until it is submitted.

Here And There News Collected At Random

Discipline in the nation's public schools is not strict enough.

This is the finding of a nationwide survey recently completed by the United States Poll of Princeton, N.J. More than three out of every five adults questioned in the survey told staff reporters that they thought discipline in their local public schools was not strict enough.

Those who said this outnumbered by a margin of better than 2 to 1 those who said "too strict" or "about right."

When staff reporters for the United States Poll put the following question to a representative cross-section of the nation's adult citizens these were the results:

Two per cent said it was "too strict."

63 per cent said "not strict enough."

26 per cent said "about right."

9 per cent had no opinion.

Those interviewed were men, women, parents, non-parents; those with children in schools; (Continued On Page 9)

Sir Anthony Eden Is Named Prime Minister Of England

By JACK SMITH
LONDON (AP)—Sir Anthony Eden, who once walked out of the government rather than appease Continental dictators, became Britain's Prime Minister today. He is the 42nd man to hold the nation's highest political office, and the youngest in three decades.

The 57-year-old diplomat—first divorced man in history to be named Premier—kissed the hand of Queen Elizabeth II and accepted her appointment to succeed his long-time political mentor, Sir Winston Churchill, who retired yesterday at 80.

Trumpets of the Horse Guards band sounded in the distance, like a herald of the new political era, as the handsome, debonair statesman in frock coat left Buckingham Palace under pale sunshine to drive back to his new duties.

Bank Is Robbed Of $200,000

NEW YORK (AP)—Gunmen held up a Queens bank today and escaped with $200,000, police headquarters reported.

The gunmen herded the manager and 10 employees into a vault in a Chase Manhattan branch bank at 59-01 Roosevelt Ave., near 60th St., Woodside, Queens.

They first had climbed into the automobile of Henry Bardenhagen, the manager, and forced him to drive them to the bank. One robber carried a tommygun.

They escaped with their loot in a car which was found abandoned a short distance from the bank.

Police set up a widespread dragnet but found no immediate trace of the robbers.

It was one of the largest bank robberies in New York City in the memory of police.

BOY SCOUTS ASK DONATIONS FOR THEIR PROGRAM

A final plea for donations, to prevent the necessity of a personal solicitation program, was made by the Black Walnut Boy Scout District today.

A "by-mail" campaign conducted in the Black Walnut area other than Gettysburg brought in $647, a sum $1,153 short of the $1,800 goal, Attorney Eugene R. Hartman, chairman of the Boy Scout district, said today.

The drive is being conducted in the area outside Gettysburg because Gettysburg raises its share for Boy Scout work, $2,500, through Community Chest.

Letters were sent to 3,300 persons in the county asking them to donate to the scouts. A total of 180 have contributed so far. Attorney Hartman said, "They have the gracious thanks of the Boy Scout Committee because they have been more than generous, giving an average of $3.60."

Contributions by areas were listed as: Blightville, $181.50; Aspers, $27; Benderville, $14; Arendtsville, $59; Gardners, $46; Orttanna, $22; East Berlin, $23; Fairfield, $44; McKnightstown, Cashstown, $10; Greennont, $6; York Springs, $66 and "rural Gettysburg," $148.50.

ADAMS FIREMEN MEET MONDAY

Facts about the new fire truck purchased by the Greenmount Fire Department were outlined by Greenmount President Mel Burton Monday evening at the meeting of the Adams County Firemen's Association held at Greenmount. The company expects delivery of its new engine from American Fire Apparatus, Battle Creek, Mich., about July 1.

Further discussion was held on the radios in the fire engines of the county and a question concerning increasing power of the transmitters was referred to the next meeting of the Adams County Fire Chiefs' Association. There was some discussion on whether it would be better to have a more powerful central radio station at Gettysburg or a number of smaller transmitters in various parts of the county. Arrangements were made for Charles Lupp to make the regular frequency test of the radios in the near future.

A discussion on the workmen's compensation benefits that can be obtained by firemen for injuries in connection with fires or other firemen's activities was led by Secretary Roger Myers. The fire departments were instructed to obtain permission from town councils or supervisors for carnivals and similar events, "to make sure you are covered."

George March was named chairman and Edward Loeffel, treasurer, for the committee to sell advertising and arrange for the annual firemen's directory to be distributed at the annual convention Labor Day in Centennial. The next meeting will be held in Hampton July 27.

was sent would send $1, the goal would be more than met. In fact if just one-third of those contacted would contribute their dollar the district committee could operate in Adams County with the program it desires to give the boys.

"The committee suggests that you read the audit of the county and take particular note of the costs paid to institutions for the care of prisoners and then decide for yourselves whether the $1,800 goal to carry on a program of character building in the young manhood of our county is worthwhile and a very reasonable one."

"Last Effort"
This one last effort for voluntary contributions is being made before a personal solicitation is instituted in the hope that the man hours necessary for such a solicitation can be devoted to increasing the program for the boys themselves.

"They are your boys. They are the county's future leaders. We ask you to support their training. Please send donations to Black Walnut District Boy Scouts, 126 Baltimore St., Gettysburg, and make them as liberal as your family budgets allow."

"Ring Testing" To Be Outlined At Meeting

Details of the "ring testing" of milk herds in nine Adams County townships next week will be outlined Monday evening at 8 o'clock at a meeting to be held in the Biglerville Elementary School, County Agent Frank S. Zettie has announced.

Owners of herds are asked to attend the session to get information on how to expedite the testing which it is hoped can be completed within a few days next week.

A mobile testing unit from the state Bureau of Animal Industry will be present in the county. Milk samples will be secured at the various farms, and the test given which will determine whether there is any evidence of brucellosis within each herd. The test, it was explained, does not prove brucellosis within a herd, but rather proves that a herd is free of the infection. If any positive reactions are found, then the herds have to be given individual blood tests to determine which, if any, of the animals is infected with the disease.

Glenny told the group that "those who become interested in wildlife soon find they are interested in forestry, and water and soil conservation, because all go together. We must have our soils and water and our forests to save our game, as well as our own prosperity."

Game itself is an economic factor in the state, Glenny said. "There were 1,500,000 cottontail rabbits killed in Pennsylvania last year. Figuring the value of a rabbit at just 50 cents for the meat that's a $750,000 item. And if we figure the meat value of the 40,000 deer and 405 black bears killed in the state we have another sizeable sum."

"JUST A DREAM"

Old Mr. Moon was laughing . . . the stars were smiling too . . . and all the world seemed wonderful . . . while I was kissing you . . . great fleecy clouds hung overhead . . . beautiful and serene . . . while nightingales sang soft and low . . . to captivate the scene . . . a whispered word of tenderness . . . quelled every doubt and fear . . . I held you tight, oh sweet delight . . . made paradise seem near . . . two hearts were one, never to part . . . how could I ask for more . . . a night of love that carried me . . . right up to heaven's door . . . then suddenly the moon was gone . . . the stars no longer gleam . . . I am alone without your kiss . . . for it was just a dream.

HAGERSTOWN, Md. (AP)—Thieves apparently worked half the night with drill and chisel in an unsuccessful attempt to open two safes at a hardware wholesale house. Officials of R. D. McKee, Inc., said the thieves would have been warning their time even if they'd been successful.

The safes weren't locked in the first place—apparently the safe-crackers looked them in trying to get them open. Besides, there was no money in them.

SPARKMAN SAYS STEVENSON TO BE '56 NOMINEE

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala.) and Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan said today Adlai E. Stevenson is a shoo-in for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1956.

Sparkman, Stevenson's 1952 vice presidential running mate, said he is convinced Gov. Averell Harriman of New York "will not be a candidate for the nomination against Stevenson."

"Stevenson is the only candidate we have right now," Sparkman declared.

See Chance Of Victory

There have been reports some New York party leaders would like to get Harriman in the race, despite the governor's statements he favors Stevenson.

Williams, who said he doesn't consider himself a contender, said in a separate interview that Stevenson "can have the Democratic nomination for the asking."

Williams and Sparkman said they believe the Democratic nominee has a good chance of winning. Sen. Gore (D-Tenn.) said anybody who thinks it may be impossible for his party's candidate to defeat President Eisenhower in 1956 "ought to start adding up the city halls, the courthouses and the statehouses the Democrats have taken over."

Eisenhower has given no indication whether he intends to run again.

The United States government once owned nearly two-thirds of the land now in the United States.

The benefit parties netted the club $318.83 and will go into the fund for sight conservation work and assistance to the blind. WILL RESUME PAINTING OF MAIL BOXES

The Pleasant-Joy 4-H Club re-organized Monday night and voted to continue a project, started last year, of repainting all the RFD mail boxes along Gettysburg R. 1—the owners thereof being willing.

Last fall the club started the project, and applied aluminum paint to about 80 mailboxes before cold weather chilled the members' determination to complete the project.

Monday evening, meeting at the home of Fred Crouse, Gettysburg R. 1, the local leader, the group voted to resume the painting. A problem discovered last fall may be solved by the artistic ability of two members, the club hopes.

Elect Officers

Stencils used to put the names of the property owners on the mailboxes caused a smear and the club hoped to secure "artists" who could put the lettering on by hand. Two members, Evelyn Breighner and Erika Kaseberg, are going to try the hand lettering stint.

Saturday the group plans to resume the painting, going along Route 1, and asking permission before beginning painting. The club members also hope for small donations to help defray the cost of paint.

Irene Crouse was elected president of the club Monday evening. Miss Breighner was named vice president; Shirley Sanders, secretary-treasurer; Edward Simpson, game leader; Barry Breighner, news reporter and Miss Kaseberg, song leader.

The club will meet the second Monday of the month hereafter, it was decided.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO
New Department Store Opens Friday Morning: The Coffman-Fisher department store located in the remodeled Weaver building opened for business Friday morning at 8:30 o'clock. The store is the nineteenth of a chain operated by the company in West Virginia and Maryland. Headquarters of the concern is at Davis, West Virginia. W. A. Haines is manager of the store.

Move Made To Dress Circle On The Square: Representatives of Gettysburg's patriotic, fraternal and civic organizations will hold a meeting at the fire engine house Thursday evening to discuss plans for remodeling and beautifying the grass plot in center square.

The suggestion has been made that a memorial to Gettysburg's world war veterans replace the brick column which supports a light standard in the center of the grass plot and that extensive repairs be made to curbing around the outer circle of the plot.

It has been pointed out that Gettysburg is one of few county seats in Pennsylvania that does not have a community memorial to world war veterans. Gettysburg, it also is shown, does not even have a memorial to civil war veterans, although the battlefield is dotted with tributes to the heroism of northern and southern soldiers who fought in battle here.

April 1 As "Square-off" Day Fast Becomes A Memory; Little Activity Shown Locally: April first "ain't what it used to be" in Gettysburg and Adams County.

Not many years ago, the first day of the fourth month was the busiest time of the year for bankers, court house officials and attorneys.

It was the day on which deeds and mortgages were entered to record, satisfactions were made and judgments were revived.

There was more than the usual volume of business passing through the offices of the prothonotary and register and recorder at the court house, but the amount was not as great as several years ago.

Local bankers said they were little busier this April 1 than any other day of the year, and one said his bank was busier last Saturday than on April 1.

April first, however, still remains the favorite day for removals both in Gettysburg and Adams County, and the number of "flittings" in progress seemed to be up to that of recent years.

16-Year-Old High School Girl, Autograph Collector, Honored By Authors: A sixteen year old Gettysburg High School junior, who makes a hobby of autograph collecting, has had her name used by a well known authoress for the heroine of the writer's latest novel.

Several months ago, Byrle Fraley MacDonald MacPherson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. G. MacPherson, 8 Stratton St., wrote to Grace Livingston Hill, of Swarthmore, asking for her autograph to add to her list of several hundred.

Mrs. Hill wrote the youthful collector a gracious letter and affixed her signature. The Gettysburg girl's name evidently impressed the writer greatly for the heroine in Mrs. Hill's latest novel, "Lady Bird," is called "Fraley MacDonald MacPherson."

Today the young collector was given an agreeable surprise when she received a copy of Mrs. Hill's latest novel from the writer with this inscription on the fly-leaf: "Fraley MacDonald MacPherson. To the real Fraley, who loaned her lovely name to my story-girl. With the love and thanks of the author, Grace Livingston Hill."

Sylvania Lodge Elects Officers: Sylvania Lodge No. 613, Independent Order of Odd Fellows, Littlestown, at their regular meeting held an election of officers, as follows: Lloyd L. Today's Talk

ENJOY YOUR FRIENDS
A friend wouldn't be worth his salt were it not for the fact that God gave him to us to be enjoyed! He is a friend in name only, otherwise. But this should work both ways — a friend of ours should find enjoyment in us.

The most stable investment on earth is that of a friend. A fortune in money can easily be wiped out in a day, but when we invest in a friend it is for a lifetime. Our love and confidence in a friend remain through storms, depressions and wars. It takes more than any of these things to wipe out a friend.

Friends to be valuable, however, must be enjoyed. They must gradually inherit something of ourselves so that they become in many ways our other self. Then it is that the enjoyment begins. The love for our friends increases as we learn the more to accurately appraise them. The better we know them the greater is our enjoyment in them.

A friendship is like a garden. It must be regularly watered and attended. If it's neglected it dies just like a garden does. A garden lives through a drought if it is watered. A genuine friend is so rare that we ought to enjoy such a one to the full. You see, you can't buy a friend like you do a bond, a house, a boat, or a suit of clothes. A friend is beyond all price!

How fortunate it is that we can select our friends. We can choose the ones to enjoy because of like interests, temperament, and personal gifts. The longer we enjoy such a friend, or friends, the richer is our experience with them. And how worth while! Nothing is so valuable as a friend — one whom you can enjoy! In other words, a friend for a lifetime!

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Heroic Readiness" Protected, 1955, George Matthew Adams Service

SNOWDROPS
When in the dirt I used to play,
As often was the case,
My parents ordered me away
To wash my hands and face.
They did not care to dine with me
With cheeks and forehead smeared,
And since I wasn't fit to see,
I promptly disappeared.

But in the spring the snowdrops white
Come rising from the soil.
No sign of dirt appears in sight
Their loveliness to spoil.
The spottless petals they display
Are always fit to see.
To wash they're never sent away,
As oft was done with me.

The snowdrops rise through mud and clay
As soon as spring returns.
They have a way to spottless stay
No human ever learns.
They show no mark of having toiled,
But gleaming in the sun
They keep themselves by dirt unsold.

I wonder how it's done.

Firemen Kept Busy
York Springs firemen were called out Tuesday afternoon to two field and woods blazes within an hour. Fire Chief Paul Wolf was assembling men about 1 p.m. Tuesday to help check a grass and woods fire on the property of Joel Griest and Harvey Hinkle when the second alarm came in. One fire truck and a party of firemen was dispatched to each fire. Nearly 100 acres of fields and woods was burned over in the Hinkle-Griest blaze.

The other fire was near the home of John Kramer, three miles north of Latimore, where firemen succeeded in keeping the fire from getting into nearby hills. No buildings were endangered but the firemen did not complete their duties until after 3 p.m. Strong breezes fanned the blazes.

Hobbies Unlimited

Mrs. Wilfred Byers, Dillsburg R. D., has long been known in the Dillsburg area for her beautiful hand painted Pennsylvania Dutch and tole ware. She started about six years ago when she purchased a Peter Hunt book put out by the Du Pont Paint Company. At this time she wanted to paint Pennsylvania Dutch designs on the furniture in one of her children's rooms. After that turned out so well she decided to do her kitchen with hand painted motifs on the cupboard doors, etc. During this time she also painted ceramic figurines for a short time.

When she seriously considered taking up Pennsylvania Dutch painting as a hobby she entered the painting classes of John Byers, Littlestown, who taught at the Art Guild in Gettysburg. After ten lessons she came to the conclusion that this medium was the one for her hobby. She buys many pieces at auction and antique sales and then refinishes them and paints them for resale. She has been painting full scale on these items for about 3½ years. Last year she attended the Pennsylvania Dutch Folk Festival, at Kutztown, Pa., where she operated a sales booth. This was her first attempt at retailing on a large scale. She also has exhibited locally and during 1953 at the York Fair she received first prize for a Pennsylvania Dutch tray. When working in Pennsylvania Dutch designs she always paints free hand and completes a medium sized piece in about one half hour. In doing the more complicated floral and colonial designs, she chalks the design in first and with the application of bronze powders or gold leaf, the whole process is slowed due to the necessity of complete drying between applications. Until recently all her finishes were applied by brush but now she sprays on the undercoating, background color and varnish. From three to four coats of semi-gloss varnish are sprayed on a piece which will receive considerable usage, such as a tray. All her painting is sandwiched in between housework and other activities and serves to keep this young housewife more than busy. Her current project is furniture painting, that of redecorating her son's room with various children's designs. In addition to the many types of painting Mrs. Byers has done she also beautifies her home with curtains, bedspreads, etc., on which she has painted designs of various sorts with textile paints. . . S.S. LEADERS MEET MONDAY

The officers and teachers of the Children's Division of Redeemer's Reformed Sunday School held their monthly meeting on Monday evening in the church social hall. Miss Elizabeth Anne Crouse was pianist for group singing. The Scripture was read by Miss Gloria Burgoon and the pastor, the Rev. Porter W. Seiwel, offered prayer.

It was announced that $20 had been donated toward the purchase of new gowns for the Junior Choir. The gowns have been ordered but have not yet arrived. The group also ordered a cabinet for storing the gowns from Lloyd E. Crouse. It was decided to place flowers in the church for the Mother's Day worship service. Plans were discussed for the annual Children's Day program in June. Reports were given by secretary, Helen Jacobs, and treasurer, Mrs. Donald C. Arbogast. The guess package, donated by Helen Jacobs was received by Mrs. Porter Seiwel. A group contest was won by Mrs. Robert H. Miller. Following the business session, refreshments were served by Miss Crouse and Miss Burgoon.

The next meeting of the officers and teachers will be held on Monday, May 2, at the church with Mrs. Lewis Cawman and Miss Bernice Currens serving as hostesses.

Plans for an Easter party were made at a brief meeting of the Junior Fellowship of Centenary Methodist Church on Monday evening in the parsonage social room. The party will be held next Monday evening from 7 to 9 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert H. Miller Jr., Hanover R. 1.

The group will leave from the church at 6:30 p.m. and transportation will be provided. The devotional period and program at the party will be in charge of Albert Miller III. Party games will be arranged by Susan Runkle and Barbara Stambaugh.

Brief devotions preceded the business at the Fellowship meeting on Monday, after which the group attended the worship service in Centenary Church in a body.

Dodgers May Not Get Service From Karl Spooner For Long Time; More Shoulder Trouble

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press
It begins to look as if the Brooklyn Dodgers may not have Karl Spooner any sooner this season than last.

The 23-year-old lefty was the kid who broke up the wake held by the Brooklyn faithful at the tail end of the 1954 campaign after the New York Giants had laid the Brooks to rest.

Spooner came up from Fort Worth and in two starts he set the Giants on their ears 3-0 and bumped off Pittsburgh (the club that slugged the Dodgers in the home stretch) 1-0. His 15 strikeouts against the National League champs was a league record for a first appearance. And the 12 strikeouts he added against the Bucs gave him an NL mark for two consecutive games.

Arm Still Hurts
Over the winter, Spooner had a balky right knee set right and he showed up for spring training ready to fire. Trouble was, he fired too hard too soon.

A shoulder pain made him rest a while. Then he threw against the White Sox and did well, but felt the pain again. He rested again, coming back April 1 for three innings against Milwaukee. He was hit hard, but no pain.

Yesterday he tried another three frames against the Braves and the arm "hurt like a sonofagun!"

Maglie Beats Tribe
His trouble was obvious. He kept trying to get by on curves. They hurt less. But the Braves tagged him for two unearned runs in the second and a pair of legitimate scores in the third on a walk and three hits after two were out. Spooner left for the showers (and probably an examination by a specialist) and the Braves were off to an 8-0 victory that gave them the spring series against the Brooks 5-4.

Sal Maglie set down the Cleveland Indians 5-2 for the New York Giants on nine scattered hits over nine innings. Bob Lemon went all the way for the Tribe, also allowing five hits — but two went for Monte Irvin home runs and a third was socked for a homer by rookie Bob Lemon.

The Philadelphia Phils took a 17-12 and 8-2 from Boston. The two clubs swung for 20 extra-base hits. Nine of them were home runs.

Turley Fans 11
St. Louis also swept a twinbill, beating the Chicago White Sox 6-3 and 3-1. The Cardinals scored four runs in the eighth, two on a Red Schoendienst home run, to win the opener.

Cincinnati ended a five-game losing streak by clouting Washington 13-2. Jim Greeninggar hit a grand-slam wallop in a six-run first off Dean Stone.

Dale Long gave Pittsburgh a 5-4 decision over Baltimore, smacking a 375-foot double that scored the winning run in the ninth.

The New York Yankees got a neat, nine-inning performance from Bob Turley, who allowed Birmingham of the Southern Assn. just four hits while fanning 11 in a 2-1 triumph.

Cuban Outfielder Becomes Pirate

BURLINGTON, N. C. (P)—Outfielder Ramon Mejias, 23-year-old Cuban, became a full fledged Pittsburgh Pirate today.

Gen. Mgr. Branch Rickey announced Mejias had been purchased from Waco, of the Class B Big State League. Last year Mejias hit safely in 54 consecutive games for Waco and finished the season with a .354 batting average. He also stole 23 bases. This spring he's hitting at a .339 clip.

MAJOR FEUD FOR ROBINSON AND ALSTON FIZZLES

WASHINGTON (P)—What promised to flare into a major feud between Manager Walt Alston and infielder Jackie Robinson of the Brooklyn Dodgers fizzled today.

"It's all over as far as I'm concerned," said Alston, who got into the scrap when Robinson complained to newspapermen that he wasn't being played enough.

"But all this isn't going to change my mind one iota. The third base job is still between Robinson and Don Hoak. The better man will play opening day and I'm not going to announce a decision before Monday."

Stirred Up Hornets' Nest
For his part, Robinson admitted he was sorry he started the fuss. But he still defended himself.

"It looks like I've stirred up a hornets' nest," he said. "I'm sorry it came out, but I want to play. I think I've been playing well enough this spring to be playing more than I have."

"He's going to play the guys he thinks are best. He's got to. He must get away fast or those wolves will be on him. Why should I have to be in doubt about my job? Even Alston admits I am in much better condition than last year."

Regarding the talk he had with the boss, Robinson would say only: "We talked things over. It was a private chat."

SAMMY SNEAD GOING AFTER 19TH MASTERS

AUGUSTA, Ga. (P)—Sammy Snead, defending champion of the Masters Golf Tournament, figures precedent is merely something meant to be broken — and if he can find the right putter, maybe he's the guy who'll do some breaking this year.

Snead, the long-driving West Virginian, could knock two precedents out the window by winning this 19th Masters. No one has ever won four Masters — only Snead and Jimmy Demaret have won three — and no Masters champion has ever successfully defended his title.

"But there's always a chance," Sam sneered after shooting a 5-under-par 67 in practice yesterday.

Concerned About Putts
Despite his fine round, Snead was concerned with his putting — which is nothing unusual for Sam.

"I made a few putts," he commented, "but I missed all those little ones I should have made."

He used three different putters — all of the center-shaft type — during his round.

"I'm trying to find one I can hit the ball with," he said. "I still don't know which one I'm going to use, but I'll put with something if I have to use a stick."

Snead won his third Masters, title last year when he beat Ben Hogan by one stroke in an 18-hole playoff. His other victories came in 1952 and 1949.

Snead and Hogan are the best bets among the veterans to prevent one of the winter's hot-shot youngsters from walking off with the biggest slice of cash and glory that goes with a Masters victory.

The condition of light heavy-weight champion Archie Moore's heart still is up in the air. He had another in a series of examinations yesterday and the report was "favorable," according to Jack Kearns, who is promoting his May 21 bout with Nino Valdes in Las Vegas.

Bob Baker, the veteran Pittsburgh heavyweight, has been advanced to the "outstanding boxer" class in his division, along with Ezzard Charles and Don Cockrell, in the latest rating of the NBA. Harold Johnson has been installed as the "logical contender" for Moore's light heavy title.

On June 1, the International Boxing Club will shift its Wednesday night fights from CBS to ABC television, and the chain of events could doom Brooklyn's Eastern Parkway Arena. ABC currently is handling the Eastern Parkway programs, but is reported to be considering dropping them. Joe Arata, who runs Eastern Parkway, admits he'd be sunk without television.

GHS Trackmen Open Season With Westminster Hi Here Thursday Afternoon At 2

Gettysburg High School's track and field team, unbeaten in the past three seasons, opens its 1955 season by playing host to Westminster High in a dual meet here Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock. It will mark the first time these two schools have met in track.

Coach George Forney is not anticipating another unbeaten campaign, pointing out his current squad is weak in a number of events although possessing good strength in others.

The Warriors will be without the services of Geoffrey Langsam who has been battling a blood infection all year. Langsam, a letterman and a fine competitor, took part in the hurdles, high jump and mile relay last year. It is problematical if he will be able to take part later in the campaign.

Probable entries for the Warriors in their engagement with the Owls will include the following:

100-yard dash, Joe Tonsel, Ronnie Williams and Forrest Stouck.
110-yard low hurdles, Richard Pennington and Glenn Weishaar.
220-yard dash, Joe Dearing, Dick Stough and Richard Pennington.
440-yard dash, Dearing, Stough, Weishaar.

880-yard run, John Coleman, Pete Pennington, Jon Wagnild, John Wheeler and Jack Crist are other possible entries.

Mile Run, Pete Pennington, Coleman, Wheeler and possibly Don Becker, a fine looking freshman prospect.

800-relay, R. Pennington, Tonsel, Ken Keefe, Stouck and possibly Charley Washington.

Mile relay, Weishaar, Merle Gorman, Keefe, Washington or Earl Little.

Shotput, Donald Smith, Williams and Bob Bondurant.

Discus, Dearing, Rodney Steimur and Bondurant.

Javelin, Ted Crouse, Williams, Bondurant.

High jump, Gorman, Bill Woods, R. Pennington.

Four Properties Are Transferred
The following property transfers have been filed with the office of the register and recorder:

C. Ralph Hart and wife, Hanover, sold to Arthur E. Clapper and wife, Straban Twp., for $7,300, a property in New Oxford.

S. Luther Baltzley and wife, Gettysburg, sold to C. Russell Gilbert and wife, Biglerville, for $2,500, a property in Biglerville.

T. E. McSherry and wife, Littlestown, sold to Rex LaMar and wife, Ocean City, Md., for $825, a property in Littlestown.

Thelma Jane Glenn, Hamilton-ban Twp., sold to herself and her brother, Edgar M. Glenn, of that township, for $1, three properties in that township.

Burgess Issues 3 Building Permits
Three building permits were issued Monday by Burgess William G. Weaver. The first was issued to L. D. Cruze, Hanover St., to erect a frame house on Barlow St. The cost is estimated at $7,500.

A permit was issued to Charles B. Bender, E. Broadway, to erect a one-story brick and block addition to his home costing an estimated $1,500. The third permit went to George M. Zerling, Howard Ave., to build a stone porch wall, steps and front door, at an estimated cost of $600.

LITTLESTOWN 9 HANDS DELONE 5-1 SETBACK

The Littlestown Thunderbolts, fast becoming one of the big athletic rivals of Delone Catholic High, downed the Squires 5-1 on the Brubstown baseball field Tuesday afternoon. The victory was the second in three starts for the 'Bolts while Delone was opening its campaign.

Both teams broke into the scoring column in the first inning. After two were out Don Kump, Littlestown shortstop, uncorked a one-out pitch into deep right field for a double and the first hit of the game. Clean-up hitter Ozzie Kress smashed a single through shortstop to bring in the first run. Delone tied up the ball game in the bottom of the initial inning when, with two outs, Burnell Billman singled to right, while Doll and Roth walked to load the bases. Taking a long lead off third, Billman came racing home on the pitch to tally Delone's lone run.

Zulick Triples
Littlestown came up with three runs in the top of the third. Kump walked, Kress fouled out, and Francis Warner took a free base. Tom Stonessier then lifted the first pitch down the left field line for a double bringing in one run and putting men on second and third. With this situation Jim Zulick lashed out a triple to clear the bases.

In the top of the seventh the 'Bolts tallied their only unearned run when Kress walked and came home on an infield miscue.

Delone's only big threat came in the fourth when they managed to load the bases with one out but then failed to produce and score.

Eight out of the nine starting men rapped safeties for the Thunderbolts, while Punk, Billman and Poist knocked out singles for the Squires.

Next Tuesday the Squires will entertain the Biglerville Cannons while Littlestown will be host to Taneytown.

MACK STADIUM GETS NEW LOOK

PHILADELPHIA (P)— Connie Mack Stadium has a new look that makes it one of the major leagues' most colorful ball parks.

The color starts at each entrance portal, now a genuine lemon yellow, replacing the dreary green of last year.

Fluorescent lighting has replaced the old dim and burned out bulbs that "lighted" the passage ways. And the refreshment stands won't be hard to find. They've been painted in four foot stripes of green, yellow and gray.

In addition, the grandstand has been painted in shades of pink and red. And for the first time advertising has been sold on the outfield walls. Colors there range through the spectrum.

Burgess

prohibited by ordinance passed in June, 1906. Tobacco chewing and street length skirts, I feel sure, dictated its passage.

"Cellar doors were not to remain open after dark if they opened on the public street per an ordinance passed in 1834. Very few of these remain, but if you have one, be sure to keep it closed for I did not notice the repeal of this ordinance."

He pointed out that the ordinance requiring snow removal from sidewalks within 12 hours after the snow stops falling is nearly 75 years old.

5 Mile Speed Limit
"Speeding was a problem with our forefathers, too," the Burgess added. "An ordinance approved in 1860 set the speed limit at five miles an hour. The fine was $2 and costs or 24 hours in jail."

"Streets being ordained from time to time were added to the original plot. In 1867 Union street was ordained but in 1874 its name was changed to Stevens. This name was taken from a street which is now Lincoln Avenue and the name Lincoln Street given to that thoroughfare. Other streets had been ordained from time to time and even today hardly a year passes that does not see a new street ordained or an existing street extended."

"The first mention I found of a sewer system was an ordinance passed in 1870 permitting David Wills and Andrew Polley to construct a private sewer on York Street. The ordinance also set forth regulations governing the entry into the sewer of other property owners. Private sewers were the general practice until 1906 when the present sanitary sewer system was constructed. Trouble with undetected private sewers has been with us up to several years ago."

Could Fine Officers
Observing that his study of old ordinances provided him with a background to his job as Burgess he had never taken time to seek out before, he continued:

"Animals running at large such as cows, swine, horses, etc., were the subject of ordinance of 1873 and 1890. I found that it was not permissible to 'herd or pasture' them in the Square or on the streets, etc. Grass must have grown where only concrete and tar now lie. The ordinance also provided that any animals whose owners were not known should be penned up and sold. Evidently it was feared that the constables and police would not care to ride herd as the ordinance also provided a fine of $1 against them if they neglected to perform their duty. On the other hand they were permitted to charge a fee of 50c for each animal captured."

"The all inclusive ordinance of December 14, 1886, in which many of the above 'Nuisances and Offenses' were legislated against also provided a $25 fine for anyone breaking or meddling with the gas street lights then in vogue."

"Children under fourteen could not carry 'friction matches.' This was passed in 1883. An 1887 ordinance prohibited persons from throwing 'stones, lead shot, or any metallic balls' with a 'slang or gun strap.' In 1887 this law was rewritten and expanded to include 'malicious throwing of snow balls or ice.' In 1899 regulation of the use of air rifles was added."

Banned Street Racing
"The issuance of permits for building started under an ordinance passed in 1887. The same submission of plans as required today was written into the ordinance and the grades were to be furnished by the Borough."

"Racing of teams on the streets was prohibited by an ordinance passed in 1899 but the speed limit was upped to seven miles per hour. The ban against racing must not have been too rigidly enforced as in the early 1900's I recall some excellent unscheduled trials of speed."

on our streets especially in the winter with the horse-drawn cutters or sleighs. A 1901 ordinance prohibiting sledding on the pavements or streets was never enforced that I can recall.

"In 1899 the first permits for the digging up of the streets were provided for stating the rates, etc. This subject has caused about as many ordinances and amendments to be passed as any other that I can think of."

"An old and wonderful institution now passed on was the Curb Market. The first ordinance that I found dealing with the market was passed February 15, 1910. It spelled out in detail the conduct of the market, provided for stall rents and for a Market Master to collect them. No peddling from door to door of market produce was permitted until after market hours."

Plan Early Tours
President Charles Diller presided at the meeting with about 25 persons attending. The meeting was held in the society rooms in the court house basement.

Treasurer Harry Stauffer reported that the society has 99 members. J. M. Sheads reported on the Old Cemetery Restoration committee and Hugh C. McIlhenny for the committee on covered bridges.

Dr. Robert Fortenbaugh announced the donation of an old Quaker marriage certificate and from Mrs. Anna Plank additional genealogical material.

Dr. Frederick Tilberg, program chairman, announced plans for tours to points of historical interest in May and June and President Diller called for volunteers to help staff the museum rooms weekday afternoons. It is now open only on Monday and Wednesday afternoons when Miss Margaret McMillan and Mrs. George Dillshorn serve.

A meeting of the board of directors followed the general session.

Other promising candidates include Don Rentzel, a transfer from Gettysburg who has shown well in the 440, discus and mile relay; Parker Coble, a freshman who has looked good in the mile; Nelson Weber, high jump, broad jump; Larry Shillito, javelin and broad jump; Howard Hemley, broad jump, high jump and hurdles; Don Wickline, hurdles and broad jump; Ed McGlaughlin, pole vault; Nevin Frantz, mile.

Other Candidates
Rounding out the list of candidates are Garnet Coble, Bill Birgen-smith, Dave Ogburn, Mac Albright, Franchot Strickhouser, Wally Rice, Bob Clark, Russ Bolen, Ralph Mentzer, Ken Baltzley, Boyd Smith, Don Bowers, Cliff Taylor, Ken Wagaman, Clair Fettes, Dick Byers, Bill Payne and Larry Taylor.

Missing from last year's outfit are Bill Mauss, District 3 javelin record holder; Keith Starnier, pit star; Gary Beidler, low hurdles; Paul Harmon, undefeated in the shotput; Gary Crum, Don Wright and Dale Unger, mile relay.

FRUIT PROSPECT CALLED "GOOD" IN USDA REPORT

In the first weekly weather and crop survey of the 1955 growing season the State Department of Agriculture declared fruit prospects as of today are "good."

Cold weather the last half of March retarded formation of buds so that the freeze of March 26-28 did damage no more than usual for this time of year, the Federal-State report declared.

Freeze losses to early blooming cherries and apricots were no more than expected and could be beneficial through thinning the set of fruit, observers said. Apple and peach buds were not generally open at the time of the freeze, they added.

Plowing Is Late
During the week ended Monday temperatures averaged below normal for the third consecutive week. Rainfall averaged only a trace for the driest week since mid-November and it was the eighth time in the past nine years with so low an average for the first week in April, the department said.

Plowing Is Late
Plowing of ground for planting spring oats is later than usual, the survey showed. Some oats have been seeded in the southern one-third of the state, with a few early fields up.

Snow cover during the past winter was light except in the west and in the mountain areas. Some growth of winter grains and grasses started in the southern tier of counties during early March, but cold, windy weather during the last half of March retarded growth, it was said.

Winter Grains Normal
Condition of winter wheat and rye is about normal for early April despite poor snow cover. The hard winter freezes usually occurred during periods when there was snow on the ground to protect the plants.

A few very early potatoes have been planted in southern and eastern Pennsylvania. Preparation of tobacco plant beds is under way in Lancaster County.

FARM CALENDAR

Test Water Supply—Have the farm water supply tested periodically by a competent laboratory, urges Henry Wooding, Penn State extension agricultural engineer. Proper location of the water supply in relation to sources of contamination is important. A diversion ditch about 25 feet above a spring will drain away surface water.

Buy Needed Seeds—Do not delay buying seeds you need for spring planting. Many legume and grass seeds are in short supply, and a strong demand is expected, warns William Carroll, Penn State extension agricultural economist. Retail prices are up an average of 12 per cent over the prices of last spring.

Save Baby Pigs—Most pig losses come during the first 3 or 4 days of a baby pig's life, reminds Dwight Younk, Penn State extension livestock specialist. He says that special care of the sow and litter during this critical period will pay big dividends for the time the caretaker spends with them.

Prevent Mastitis—Preventing mastitis is as much a part of good dairying as feeding your dairy cows, declares Ivan Parkin, Penn State extension dairy science specialist. You can prevent mastitis by using good dairy management practices, he says.

Enroll in Camp—Enrollments are being accepted for the tenth annual leadership camp, June 7 to 11, at Camp Kanawake near Spruce Creek, Huntingdon County, reports James Keim, assistant state 4-H Club leader of the Pennsylvania State University.

Sell Products—Roadside markets provide a good outlet for farm products for farmers who are located on main highways, says Herbert McFeely, Penn State extension marketing specialist.

Condition of winter wheat and rye is about normal for early April despite poor snow cover. The hard winter freezes usually occurred during periods when there was snow on the ground to protect the plants.

A few very early potatoes have been planted in southern and eastern Pennsylvania. Preparation of tobacco plant beds is under way in Lancaster County.

DORMANT SPRAY LETTER IS OUT

Information on the delayed dormant spray for apples have been sent fruit growers of the county by County Agent Frank S. Zettie in consultation with Dr. R. S. Kirby, plant pathology extension specialist, and J. O. Pepper, extension entomologist.

This year in orchards where scab was kept under control in 1954 there are fewer old leaves with scab than usual, Zettie said. However, where scab was severe last year, spores are maturing nearly as fast as in 1954. The spores are ready to infect during wet weather when new leaves have from 1/4 to 1/2 inch of green showing in the flower buds. Zettie added that red mite eggs and adult spotted mites have been seen in many orchards.

Following usual custom two sprays are recommended, one for "better finish" and one listed as the "standard" spray. For better finish, per 100 gallons of dilute spray, 1 1/2 pints of Glyodin (Crag 341) and two ounces of fresh spray lime plus 1 1/3 pint of agricultural puratized spray should be used. Per 100 gallons of concentrate spray 4 1/2 pints of Glyodin, four ounces of spray lime and a pint of agricultural puratized spray should be used.

The "standard" spray calls for two pounds of copper sulphate and two pounds of fresh spray lime plus either two gallons of miscible superior oil or three gallons of superior oil emulsion, per 100 gallons of dilute spray. For concentrate sprays three pounds should be used instead of two for the copper and lime, three gallons instead of two for miscible oil, and 4 1/2 gallons of superior oil emulsion.

Work Progressing On S.S. Addition At Bendersville

Excavation for the 40x64-foot addition to the Bethlehem Lutheran Church at Bendersville is all but complete and the pouring of footers is being finished this week. The architect's drawing of a front view of the building as it will appear when completed is shown above. Completion is expected by early fall.

Members of the church are conducting a campaign to raise $35,000 to pay for the addition. The annex will include a full basement with a kitchenette. There will be eight class rooms on the first floor and a glass, sound-proof "cry room" for the mothers and their babies when they attend services.

The one-story, flat-roofed structure will be a concrete block with brick casing.

The "cry room" will be at the rear of the church. At the present time there are two Sunday School rooms, separated from the main auditorium of the church by folding doors. The "cry room" will be built as a second story above the class rooms. It will be about 30 by 15 feet.

Buchart Engineering Co., York, are the architects for the new structure; Lawrence Huff, near Gettysburg, general contractor; Howard Hutton, Bendersville, heating, electrical and plumbing; mason work will be done by Cameron F. Crum, Arendtsville.

The construction is being made on a material and labor basis rather than on a flat contract. Members of the Building Committee include: George L. Schriver, Ward Taylor, Guy Staub, Mrs. John Pitzer, Mrs. Glenn Fetters and Mrs. Roger Hoffnagle. Roy Starner is treasurer for the Building Fund. Rev. Dr. O. D. Coble is pastor of the church.

Forest Fires Rage In North Carolina

SWAN QUARTER, N.C. (P)—Fire fighters hoped today for rain in their battle to control a raging forest fire that has swept more than 250,000 acres.

W. J. Clark, assistant forester in Raleigh, said the situation has improved some but shifting coastal winds and dense smoke were hampering efforts to fight the fire. Estimates of destruction were placed at three to four million dollars by K. C. Trowbridge, of Plymouth, wood and lands manager for the North Carolina Pulp Co.

WEST HARTFORD, Conn. (P)—Democrats won four of seven seats on the West Hartford Town Council yesterday, gaining control for the first time in the town's 100-year history.

COMPANY WINS $425,000 AWARD

PHILADELPHIA (P)—A U. S. District Court jury last night awarded the Norris Amusement Co. $425,000 in its antitrust suit against seven major film distributing companies.

The firm contended in its suit, which started Feb. 11 before Judge Alan K. Grim, that its two theaters in nearby Norristown, Pa., were not given first run movies until 21 days after they had completed their showing here.

Under terms of the Sherman Antitrust Act, treble damages are fixed by the court where the verdict is rendered, which could result in claims totalling $1,275,000 against the distributors—Warner Bros., RKO, 20th Century-Fox, Paramount, Universal, Columbia and MGM.

The jury of five men and seven women deliberated 10 hours before announcing its finding.

The Norristown theaters are owned and operated by Abe and Lou Sablosky, senior partners in the amusement firm, and four of their brothers. They charged that from 1939 to 1961 the distributors restrained trade unreasonably. The original suit sought $400,000.

Ken Boyer, rookie infielder for the St. Louis Cardinals, is a brother of Cloyd, former Cardinal pitcher.

"IT IS FINISHED"

hatred of God was bringing all this to pass.

But Jesus had something more vital in mind when He said, "It is finished." Here on the central Cross He was finishing God's eternal plan for the salvation of men. Here in His blood-drops, His expiring breath, He was completing the perfect ransom for the souls of all God's earthly children. Without this they would be eternally separated from Him by their willful disobedience and sin.

Other men had died for their fellow-men in spiritual service. But in their veins was the poison of sin. Their dying perhaps saved others from some earthly harm, but not from eternal condemnation and death. It had to be the death of a man in whose mind and heart, through temptation, was not even a trace of sin; a man whose being was Divine and whose earthly mission was initiated by the loving heart of God. In the death of this man for men, God's justice would be satisfied, and He could receive them into His fold again.

Such was the Man Christ Jesus. Such was the character of His death on Calvary. The age-long search of man for salvation had ended. God's love had come to Him. Christ's death had atoned for his sins. It was finished; God's way, the only way for man's redemption, was finished.

No player on the New York Giants roster was born in New York City. Only one, Hank Thompson, now makes his home there.

U.S. Entered First World War Thirty-Eight Years Ago Today

Gettysburg and Adams County, along with the rest of the United States, went to war 38 years ago today.

On April 4, 1917, President Woodrow Wilson asked Congress for a Declaration of War against Germany. On April 6 it was passed.

Unlike some wars, the entry into World War I came as no surprise to most people. Fighting had begun in 1914 and the German policy of submarine warfare had helped to shift public opinion in favor of American entry. With the sinking of the "Algonquin" on March 12, 1917, reports of preparations for war were frequently seen in the newspapers.

"The Gettysburg Times" said on April 2: "With the war spirit everywhere in the air, a renewed interest has been given to the drilling of six companies of college boys . . . There has been little talk of enlisting for service, either at college or in town, but it is believed that, in the event of war and a call for volunteers, there will be no lack of response at either place."

A headline in the April 3 Times read: "MEN OF COUNTY ANSWERING CALL." "With actual war between the United States and Germany considered only a matter of hours, enlistments of young men from the towns and rural sections of this county are beginning to be reported." The first two were James A. Nicoll, son of Rev. and Mrs. W. D. Nicoll, New Chester, and William Benton Thomas, son of Alonzo Thomas, Biglerville.

There was also a report of a group of army officers inspecting the Lincoln Highway, "evidently for the purpose of ascertaining its value for transporting food and other supplies by motor truck, in the event of necessity."

On April 4, Burgess J. W. Elcholtz issued a proclamation which said in part: "At this time, when the United States is on the verge of entering the World War, it is highly fitting and proper that Gettysburg should display the Stars and Stripes from every home and on every business building."

Richard Watkins, instructor in driver education at New Oxford High School, was given permission to paint lines on Berlin Ave. in connection with his driver training program.

Ralph A. Grodon, Littlestown, was granted permission to collect garbage in New Oxford, starting May 2. Under the new plan patrons will pay on a weekly basis for the collection. Garbage will be collected Mondays. Tin and glass will be collected on Saturday mornings. Patrons will be asked to keep the items separate for the separate collections.

To Schedule Oiling
The property committee was authorized to purchase clothing for the borough police officer; it was announced that a survey of streets to be oiled this summer will be reported at the next meeting. Plans were listed for opening and improving gutters on the Kohler Mill Road.

Charles E. Slaybaugh appeared before council to discuss the building of a sidewalk along his property on W. High St.

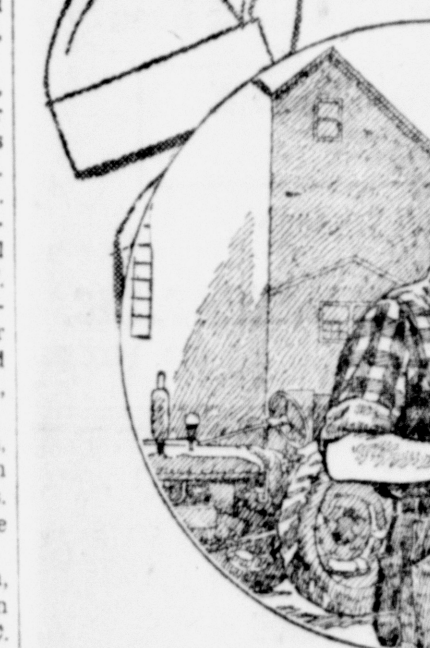

President Klunk presided at the meeting with Councilmen H. S. Griffin, Paul H. Harbaugh, Cletus J. Billman, John P. Smith, A. W. Rohrbaugh and R. W. Wolfe in attendance. Others present included Secretary C. P. Keefer, Borough Manager Lawrence C. Bevenour, Burgess Guy A. Staub and Police Officer Walter E. Bemiller.

"God's Only Son," a cantata, will be presented by the Uniontown Lutheran Parish Choir at Winter's Church, near New Windsor, Sunday evening at 7:45 o'clock.

Community Good Friday services will be held from 12 noon until 3 o'clock at Taneytown Evangelical and Reformed Church.

Easter Sunrise services will be held at 6 a.m. Sunday morning in Taneytown Evangelical and Reformed Church.

"NO PAINLESS TAX DEVISED," EXPERT SAYS

HARRISBURG (AP)—A tax expert said today "no painless and popular tax can be devised to extract the huge sum needed from the purses of the people."

The warning came from Alfred G. Buehler, chairman of the Pennsylvania Tax Study Committee, in a speech prepared for the opening luncheon session of a two-day special tax forum.

"It is natural to hope for a miracle to deliver us from the necessity of paying higher taxes," he said. "Federal aid is too small to solve our dilemma."

Meanwhile, Gov. George M. Leader met with legislative leaders for preliminary discussion on tax-budget problems.

The governor arranged to discuss with the Democratic Assembly leaders the need for 400 to 500 million dollars in new taxes to balance the commonwealth's 1 1/2 billion dollar plus budget for the 1955-57 Legislature.

The governor has given no indication of the taxes he has in mind other than to say that they should be spread through all levels of taxpayers.

Buehler, a professor of public finance at the University of Pennsylvania, told the conference that a survey of tax systems in various states shows that only three major sources of revenue could be utilized for greater revenues aside from state taxes which "have already been raised to unusually steep heights."

More Local Taxes

The expert said that one solution would be to give local governments the responsibility of raising more money from real estate taxes in order to carry a larger share of education costs.

A second major source of new revenue, Buehler said, would be "some type of general sales tax."

The third source he mentioned was a type of personal income tax.

Speaking on the current state tax situation, Buehler noted that "corporation taxes of Pennsylvania are heavier than in any other state in a comparable group. We are known throughout the nation as a high corporation tax state."

Sources Narrow

"Although our tax load has been comparatively moderate we have concentrated the burden of taxation upon a few sources in financ-

Arson Suspect In Finishing Mill Fire

EASTON, Pa. (AP)—Fire destroyed a finishing mill at the Doney Slate Co. in West Pen Argy, Monday night.

Officials today investigated for possible arson.

Company President A. C. Doney said a car was seen leaving the plant area about a half hour before the fire was detected in both buildings of the finishing mill. The two frame structures were completely destroyed. Doney estimated damage at $125,000.

Firemen fought the blaze for about two hours.

The mill employed 25 men in making blackboard, structural and roofing slates. The mill had been operating on a daytime basis only.

Weather Forecast

Extended forecast for Wednesday, April 6, through Sunday, April 10:

Eastern Pennsylvania, Eastern New York and Midatlantic States: Temperatures will average near normal over south and slightly above normal north with no large variation, showers likely over southern and central sections Wednesday and possibly over most sections Thursday, chance of showers again near end of week, total rainfall about 1/4 inch north and near 1/2 inch south.

Western Pennsylvania, Western

ing general fund services."

He mentioned one of the sources as alcoholic beverages. Pennsylvania local property taxes are "generally comparatively moderate."

"Pennsylvania could obtain minor revenues from such sources as a per capita tax of the type now used by many of our local governments, an amusement tax, similar to many of the local taxes, a tax on parimutuel betting or certain other sources."

Attending a meeting beginning at a noon luncheon with Leader at the executive mansion were: House Speaker H. G. Andrews (D—Cambria); Sen. John H. Dent, Democratic floor leader in the Senate; Rep. Albert S. Readinger, House Democratic floor leader; Sen. Joseph M. Barr, Democratic state chairman; Lt. Gov. Roy E. Furman; and Atty. Gen. Herbert B. Cohen.

RED CROSS MAY PARTICIPATE IN UNITED DRIVES

WASHINGTON (AP)—The American National Red Cross announced Tuesday it has relaxed its rules so that local chapters may participate in community or united fund raising drives under certain conditions.

Heretofore, most local Red Cross chapters have refused to become a part of fund raising campaigns such as Community Chest and United Fund drive in which welfare agencies are grouped and each receives a certain percentage of the funds raised.

E. Roland Harriman, national Red Cross chairman, said the board of governors adopted the new policy yesterday.

With the changes, he said, "Red Cross chapters will be able to plan in a more direct and helpful manner with other agencies and community leaders in matters of united or federated fund raising."

"Official Status"

The board said the government of the United States has established the American National Red Cross as this nation's official volunteer agency and this "unique and official" status made certain conditions of fund raising necessary.

But the board said each local Red Cross chapter will keep these rights:

1. To determine and control its budget and goal.

2. To conduct a roll call for members and funds in the month of each year designated by the board of governors.

3. To issue a membership card to each person from whose contribution the Red Cross receives $1 or more.

To Still Campaign

The amended policy keeps the provision that all chapters will

New York, Ohio and West Virginia: Scattered showers at beginning of period and possibly again on Thursday and again near end of week, total rainfall 1/4 to 1/2 inch, temperatures average near normal for the period, moderate temperature Wednesday, cooler by Thursday night, milder toward end of week.

Catholic Paper Raps Argentina

VATICAN CITY (AP)—L'Osservatore Romano says Argentina is a totalitarian state. The Vatican newspaper made the charge in replying to Buenos Aires suggestions for an end to Roman Catholicism's favored position as the state church in Argentina.

"The church today is stricken in Argentina just because it affirms the existence of a moral law engaging all Christians," L'Osservatore declared yesterday.

The editorial was its latest on the five-month fight between the Catholic Church and President Juan Peron's government.

"If we wish to be consistent, it is not enough to reform or abolish a constitution or change all the doctrinaire rules of the government, L'Osservatore continued.

"We must also affirm that the Peron state has its independent 'ethics' and does not tolerate other moralities, including Christian moralities. It must be declared that Argentina is a totalitarian state."

"participate in annual campaigns for members and funds for the purpose of enrolling members and obtaining adequate voluntary contributions to finance the budgetary requirements of the chapters and the national organization."

KING OF YEMEN QUELLS REVOLT

ADEN (AP)—A reliable source reported Tuesday that the King of Yemen, Imam Ahmad, had quelled an army revolt against his rule and that loyal tribesmen had rounded up the rebel leaders.

This source said he had received information from the mountain city of Ta'izz, 85 miles northwest of Aden, that the Imam had eluded army units encircling his palace there and joined up with tribesmen from the northern part of his 75,000-square-mile Arab kingdom.

The report did not disclose the fate of the King's brother and foreign minister, Prince Abdullah, who earlier was reported to have been installed by the army as Imam.

A spokesman for the Yemenite legation in Cairo said Sunday that the Imam had abdicated "for health reasons" last week in favor of Abdullah. Yesterday Ahmad's eldest son Prince Mohammed, cabled the Arab League headquarters in Cairo that his father had not stepped down and was under army siege in his Ta'izz palace.

Mohammed led the men of the Haashid and Bakeel tribes in their march to free the King. An earlier report today from Ta'izz said the tribesmen were besieging the city, that Abdullah was hiding in an army barracks and that some army units were withdrawing from the city.

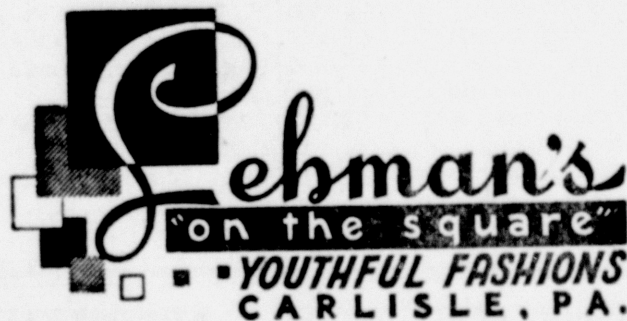

Ahmed's dispute with the army reportedly stemmed from his refusal to let it carry out punitive raids on villagers who had molested soldiers.

WESTERN PRESS HEAPS TRIBUTE ON CHURCHILL

LONDON (AP)—Political leaders and the press of the Western democracies lavished tributes on Sir Winston Churchill today. He even got a pat on the back from a pro-Communist paper.

In general, the 80-year-old British statesman's departure from the prime ministry was recognized as a historic moment. He was lauded far and wide as a leading architect of victory in World War II.

"More than any other single person he deserves honor for organizing the free people's fight against nazism and fascism," said Norway's Foreign Minister Halvard Lange.

Career Not Over

Many agreed that Churchill's career is not over. President Eisenhower appeared before television and news cameras to address this message to his old associate in hot and cold war.

"We shall never accept the fact that we are to be denied your counsel, your advice. Out of your great experience, your great wisdom and your great courage, the free world yet has much to gain. And we know that you will never be backward in bringing those qualities forward when we appeal to you for help, as all of us are bound to do."

President Rene Coty of France cabled that his country, "united with Great Britain and all free peoples, renders you affectionate homage and extends her admiration and recognition." Like Eisenhower, French Premier Edgar Faure messaged on behalf of his cabinet: "We know that your counsel will continue to inspire the policy of your country."

Hailed By Adenauer

West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer issued this statement: "It is one of Sir Winston's greatest services that the Western world now lives in freedom. All of us in the free world need his counsel and will continue to seek it."

From Britain's Communist ally Yugoslavia, Radio Belgrade praised Churchill's World War II leadership and said he was "so great" that he could "change his own errors and recognize his own mistakes."

Moscow radio reported Churchill's resignation to the Russian people without comment.

East Germany's official Communist news agency ADN sourly said Churchill's name "has been closely tied to the imperialist Western Powers' policy of strength and war threats." L'Unita, organ of the Italian Communist party, said he left his high office "without applause." But Rome's pro-Communist Paese Sera called him "a great old man."

HOTEL CANCELS MARIO LANZA'S BIG CONTRACT

By BOB THOMAS

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Where does Mario Lanza go from here? That was the question the show world pondered today after the tenor failed to appear and was fired from the world's highest salaried night club date. The Hotel New Frontier yesterday canceled Lanza's contract, which called for $100,000 for two weeks of singing twice a night.

A friend reported Lanza was heartbroken by his failure to keep the date. The reason is more than professional. He expected to use the $100,000 to rent a new house. Heavily in debt to the government for past income taxes, he now plans to rent an apartment. For the past three months he has been living in Palm Springs and preparing for the abortive night club engagement.

Cause Still Clouded

"He was in a good mood and talking very sensibly," a close friend said. "He remarked that he guessed that motion pictures is my business."

Lanza apparently will go back to the movies. He is under contract to Warner Bros. for the James M. Cain story "Serenade."

The cause of his pullout from the much publicized show here is still clouded. A local doctor examined him early yesterday morning and said he was in physical shape to sing. But a meeting of his backers decided that he could not sing last night. The Hotel New Frontier's bosses then ruled that his contract had been broken. Substitutes from other shows on the Las Vegas Strip have filled in for him while the hotel negotiated for a new star.

Man Is Killed In Freak Accident

CHESTER, Pa. (AP)—A freight car carrying 50 tons of pig iron overturned and dumped the load on a small concrete building in which some men were working yesterday.

The freak accident killed one man and injured two others. Rescuers worked for a half hour clearing the wreckage before finding the victims.

Chorsie Triplin, 52, a laborer died on the way to the hospital. Injured were James Cook, 49, a yardmaster, and Horace B. Hunter, 52, of Chester.

Eisenhower Holds Tongue, Keeps Cool; Truman Ranted

Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—One of the differences between the administrations of President Eisenhower and President Truman is the difference between fire and rain.

The peppery Truman spouted flame when he got mad enough. He scorched people he thought were shoving him around, particularly Republicans in Congress. He had a sharp tongue, and in public.

Eisenhower, unlike Truman, holds his tongue and his fire, in public at least. As he says himself, he doesn't get personal. That sort of knocks the ground out—beforehand—from under anyone with a yen to attack him.

Eisenhower dampens his opposition and his critics by being as impersonal and cool as rain. In public, that is. What he says in the privacy of the White House is not known. He is said to have quite a temper.

But, while Eisenhower refrains from adding fuel to the fire of his opposition by public and personal criticism, he and his assistants apparently work hard behind the scenes to overcome roadblocks.

A good example was in the recent attempt of some Democrats to give everyone a $20 income tax cut. Eisenhower's administration said the government couldn't afford it. He got enough votes lined up in Congress to save the day for him.

Truman had trouble with Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) and the late Sen. Taft (R-Ohio). He blasted both of them. They returned the compliment.

For a while after he won the Republican presidential nomination from Taft it seemed Eisenhower might have trouble with him too. But Eisenhower won him over. Taft became his most valuable helper.

Eisenhower had trouble with McCarthy but handled him much differently from Truman, and more effectively. Eisenhower himself has never said a word against the Wisconsin senator. But his aides put the skids under the senator. The result: Eisenhower is still riding high while McCarthy has been pushed into the background and is still probably trying to figure out what hit him.

To go through the McCarthy hurricane, with his popularity seemingly undiminished, was no mean political feat for a man who has called himself a political amateur.

MIDDLETOWN BOY KILLED IN CRASH MONDAY

HARRISBURG (AP)—Three boys were killed in separate accidents Monday near Belleville, Mifflin County; Middletown, Dauphin County; and Zion, Centre County.

Donald A. Derr, 16, of Middletown, died at Harrisburg Hospital shortly after the car in which he was a passenger collided head-on with another auto two miles south of his home, Harrisburg state police reported.

Mark William Smith, 8, Zion, was killed on his family's farm when a tractor he was driving to a barn overturned after hitting some steel fence poles, Coroner John Weber of Centre County said.

John Dumm, 10, Belleville, died when he was struck by a car across the street from his home, Lewistown state police reported.

Four other persons were injured in the Derr crash. They were: Harold Herr, 23, driver of the car in which the victim was riding; E. Titus Gish, 46; Verne, 45, his wife; and Kenneth, 9, the couple's son, all of Elizabethtown, all passengers in the other car.

All four are in the Harrisburg Hospital where Mrs. Gish is reported in serious condition and her husband and son in satisfactory condition.

Herr is under observation, the police said.

Ike Urges Backing For Sports Festival

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today urged all Americans to give "enthusiastic support" to the National Sports Festival. This is an annual observance aimed at encouraging widespread participation in sports and recreational activities.

The festival, officials said, will be observed in communities throughout the nation during May.

Sponsored by 13 nonprofit organizations, the festival seeks to "introduce more people of all ages to the physical and emotional benefits of healthy participation in sports and recreational activities."

John R. Torquato, labor and industry secretary, said today the request was one highlight of a trip last Wednesday to Washington made by state officials. The trip followed Gov. George M. Leader's announcement of a 14-point program to speed economic recovery in the commonwealth.

Torquato reported James P. Mitchell, U. S. secretary of labor, was particularly interested in aiding the state's hard-core industry. The branch employment office in Harrisburg would require a $50,000 allotment which would be used in the hiring of trained personnel engaged full time in the mission of boosting the state's employment ranks—either through new industries, new expansions or retraining of presently unemployed.

In other action it was reported that John P. Robin, state commerce secretary, may make a plea for location of an atomic energy plant in Pennsylvania.

Hospital Staff
Opposed To Change
SHENANDOAH, Pa. (AP)—Doctors at Locust Mountain Hospital apparently want no part of a plan to change the hospital's present status.

They sent to Gov. George M. Leader yesterday a resolution protesting two bills before the state Legislature—one proposing the hospital be taken off the status of a general hospital, the other proposing that it be turned into a cerebral palsy hospital.

One physician, Dr. Stanley Stanulonis, of Shenandoah, said the present hospital is vitally needed. In fact, he said, the hospital's present 80-bed capacity should be increased.

Sixteen doctors endorsed the resolution. The bills had been submitted to the Legislature by Reps. Wayne Breisch and H. Franklin Kehler, Schuylkill County, and Wilbur H. Hamilton, Philadelphia.

Says Bidding For State Jobs Changed
HARRISBURG (AP)—Specifications "on many times" bought by the Property and Supplies Department are being changed to permit a wider range of bidders, Secretary William D. Thomas said last night.

Thomas told a television panel (over WPTA's "Capitol Correspondents") that in some cases, specifications issued under the administration of former Gov. John S. Fine limited bidders to one or two suppliers.

He said some contracts entered into by the state during the final days of the Fine administration have been cancelled for "unnecessary quantities."

Woman Is Named
To Securities Job
HARRISBURG (AP)—Mrs. Leonard L. Zeldman, Rfd., Montgomery County, is Gov. George M. Leader's choice for a post on the three-member Pennsylvania Securities Commission.

The nomination, made yesterday, is subject to Senate confirmation. The post pays $10,000 yearly.

Mrs. Zeldman would succeed J. Myron Honigman, Philadelphia. Her appointment would be effective until January, 1959.

A daughter of Albert M. Greenfield, Philadelphia financier, Mrs. Zeldman is a trustee of the Albert Greenfield Foundation.

SCRANTON AREA IS CRIPPLED BY TRANSIT STRIKE

SCRANTON, Pa. (AP)—The Scranton Transit Co. was struck early Tuesday, leaving the Scranton area without its major means of public transportation.

A strike vote taken in the early morning hours by Division 168 of the AFL Streetcar Men's Union was "overwhelmingly" in favor of the walkout, Charles Cicchino of Newark, N. J., national vice president of the union, said.

"The straw that broke the camel back was the company's refusal to arbitrate," said Cicchino. The company has said it would arbitrate only on its ability to pay, main issue in lengthy negotiations.

Company spokesman were not immediately available for comment.

The strike cripples mass public transportation in an area extending from Old Forge on the south to Carbondale on the north. The company serves an estimated 30,000 persons daily.

Asked Postponement
Late on Monday Mayor James T. Hanlon proposed a 30 to 60 day postponement of the then threatened walkout. It was his second attempt at heading off the strike.

A similar plea was heeded last week by the union on the eve of a threatened walkout.

But negotiations that resumed after that delay failed to resolve the major basic difference—the company's request for a three-cent-an-hour pay cut for the 268 operating and maintenance employees vs. the union demand for increases that would bring the hourly average wage to two dollars.

The present rate is $1.56. The company maintained that the wage slash was necessary to its continued operation. The union claimed the increase was necessary to restore earnings to the levels of March 14 when company service was reduced. The union asserted that resultant cutbacks in overtime and schedules had cost each man an average of $29 a week.

Merchants Protest
Merchants and other business people protested against the union strike call, asserting it would put a big dent in pre-Easter shopping revenues.

In addition to the proposal for a one year contract calling for the three cent cut, another company proposal sought a 45 day extension of the present contract at existing scales, during which time negotiations would continue.

This was similar to Mayor Hanlon's request. During the intervening period, under the Hanlon proposal, a committee would survey the public transportation setup in the area to determine public requirements.

those without children in school; all age groups; city and rural residents; occupational and educational levels.

One sidelight shows that more men than women believe that school discipline is not strict enough and there is little difference of opinion between those with children in school and those who do not have any in school.

The second question, put to those who said discipline was not strict enough, was:

"Who do you think is more to blame for this... the school officials for being too easy on the children or the parents for not allowing school officials to be stricter?" Here are the answers:

Forty-two per cent of the men and 38 per cent of the women blamed the parents. Seven per cent in each group blamed school officials. 18 per cent of the men and 12 per cent of the women said both were at fault and one per cent of the men and two per cent of the women had no opinion.

Billy Sunday, who started out as a locomotive fireman, used to inject railroad language into his powerful evangelistic sermons. He once said, "Some people believe they've got a Pullman ticket to Heaven and have asked the porter to wake them when the train is pulling into the yards of the New Jerusalem. But I tell you they're going to get a hot box on the way!"

War Up To Reds
WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles said Tuesday that if there is war in the Formosa area it will be entirely due to Chinese Communist provocation and initiative.

He said the United States is trying to deal with Communist China on a civilized and peaceful basis.

Dulles discussed what he called the dangerous Far Eastern situation at a news conference.

In the United States there is a highway accident on the average of every three seconds.

McNeill Whistler built the first Russian railway. As a matter of fact, the first Russian road was laid under the supervision of an Austrian engineer, Chevalier Von Gerstner. The line was laid to a six-foot gauge from St. Petersburg to Pavlovsk and was opened in 1837.

However, Major George Washington Whistler, the artist's father, did build one of Russia's chief roads and it was he who set the five-foot gauge which still is standard width on most of the U. S. S. R. roadbeds.

Major Whistler was commissioned by Czar Nicholas I in 1842 to build a 420-mile double-tracked line from St. Petersburg to Moscow. The project was to take seven years and cost forty million dollars. A few months before the job was completed in 1849, Major Whistler died of cholera.

SAYS SHOOTING WAR NOT NEAR

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—U. S. Army Secretary Robert T. Stevens said after a two-day visit on Formosa he did not feel a shooting war is near.

He was given the latest intelligence briefing on the Red buildup near the offshore islands opposite Formosa. Later he told reporters he personally did not think a shooting war was imminent but "that's only an impression and I can't document it."

He left for Hong Kong Tuesday. He said he saw no need for American ground forces to defend Formosa or outlying islands but that an increase in the size of the American Military Assistance Advisory Group by possibly one third is under consideration.

The feeling that war is near is stronger in the United States than on Formosa, he said.

The only report of action today was that Nationalist planes strafed two small gunboats in Melchior Bay 90 miles south of the Matsus.

SOLIDARITY IN WEST LIKELY TO BE EDEN'S AIM

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — An overriding concern to preserve Western solidarity against Russia is likely to dominate the policies of Britain's new Eden government just as it did that of Sir Winston Churchill.

But U. S. officials said privately today Sir Anthony Eden will not do things in the same way Churchill did, and there is no use pretending there will not be some differences in U. S.-British relations.

What these differences are going to be, how they will develop and how they must be handled to prevent unnecessary frictions will be major sources of interest in U. S. conduct of foreign affairs during the next few months.

Seem Almost Identical

Authorities here think it quite possible that Eden will seek early talks with top American officials. He might find such an occasion when Secretary of State Dulles goes to Europe for a North Atlantic Treaty meeting in May. He could come here to confer with President Eisenhower, though officials said there is no present plan for such a meeting.

Eden and Churchill have been closely identified for so many years that there is a tendency to consider them identical in motives and reactions. That is not true, according to men who have worked with both of them.

As Prime Minister and foreign minister, Churchill and Eden were accustomed to disagree on many issues. Sometimes U. S. diplomats have to check and recheck both men to learn what was the true British position on some issue.

In general Churchill, the old political pro, has taken a much tougher line on many problems than Eden, the practiced diplomat, was willing to do.

Some Differences

One well-known difference was Churchill's desire for a long time for a big power meeting at what he called "the summit"—involving heads of state. Eisenhower was cool to the notion. So were Dulles and Eden.

On the specific question of relations with the United States, diplomats believe Eden will be just as devoted as Churchill was to preserving the Anglo-American relationship, the foundation of free world alliances.

But Churchill never let others forget he had an American mother. Eden does not have this kind of emotional feeling toward the United States.

Thus he may in the long run be somewhat more difficult for Eisenhower and Dulles to deal with than Churchill was.

FEAR SEVERE LIVESTOCK LOSS FROM STORM

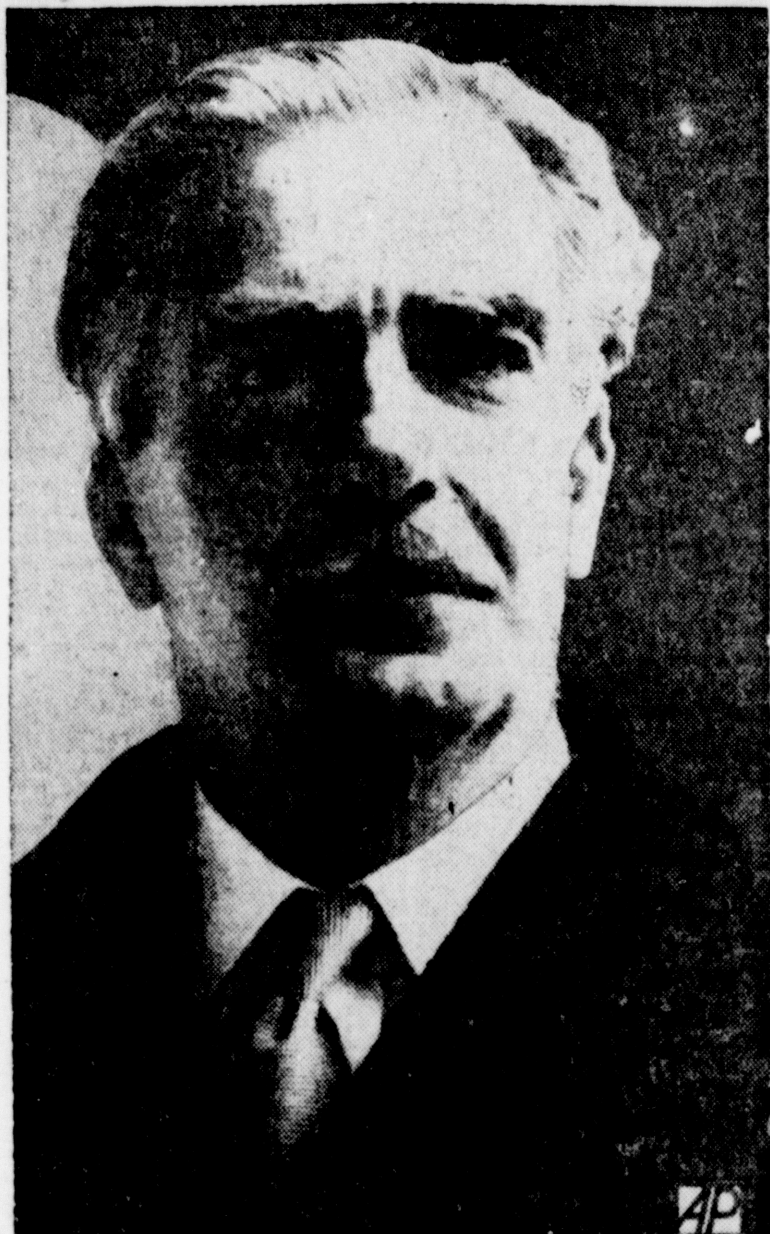

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (AP) — "Extremely heavy" livestock losses were feared today in the wake of a fierce arctic storm whose 16-foot snowdrifts have paralyzed parts of Wyoming and Montana.

Hundreds of motorists and rural residents stranded by the two-day storm are believed safe and in no danger.

Entire cities in the northeast part of the state still are isolated from highway and air travel, however. Some trains resumed their schedules with difficulty early today as winds continued to drift snow everywhere in the stricken area.

and a nod of his iron-gray head.

His first major duty was to pick his Cabinet and several important changes were expected. The biggest was the naming of his own foreign secretary. The general assumption in London was that the nod would go to Defense Minister Harold Macmillan, 60, a director of the Macmillan Publishing Co. and a wartime friend of President Eisenhower.

To Call Election

Eden's succession to No. 10 Downing St. touched off the first heavy shots in the campaign for the general election he is expected to call within months. Many politicians are expecting a vote as early as May 26.

1ST AD SIR ANTHONY

LONDON Eden Lead Gal 2

Even while Eden was at the palace Left-wing Laborite rebel Aneurin Bevan cut loose with a political blast which tipped the line that many Socialists are likely to take in the drive to unseat the Conservative party.

"Scarcely adequate to meet the challenge of the new hydrogen age," Bevan wrote in the Weekly Tribune, adding:

Friend Of U. S.

"The problem for Sir Anthony Eden is that he does not possess a personal ascendancy over the rest of his colleagues."

agriculture commissioner, said losses to livestock will run heavy.

He estimated 90 per cent of cattle and sheep herds in the snowbound area have been without food since early Saturday, when the storm struck. There is serious danger that many sheep will be buried alive, he added.

A record 39 inches of snow fell during a 44-hour period at Sheridan, Wyo., and 33 inches, deepest on record, at Billings, Mont.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES

Therefore, Bevan charged, Britain is likely to pass from personal to "committee" leadership, with no strong hand at the helm.

Eden, like Churchill a friend and staunch ally of the United States, was certain to carry out many of the policies he and his old chet worked out together in the years of their close partnership. That association began as far back as 1938, when Eden—then 41—quit the government of Neville Chamberlain in a dramatic protest against appeasing the Axis dictators.

Eden's forceful refusal to give way was one of the political steps that first brought him under the personal wing of Churchill, who with the same vigor opposed yielding to the threats of Hitler and Mussolini.

Lauded By Churchill

"He seems to me at this moment to embody the life-hope of the British nation," Churchill said at the time.

Churchill reappointed him to the foreign secretaryship soon after he took over as Prime Minister May 10, 1940, eight months after the outset of World War II. Again when Churchill returned to No. 10 Downing St. in 1951 after six years of Laborite rule in the country, the war leader called his protégé to direct foreign relations.

Their association was so close that it ultimately led to a merger of their two families. Eden divorced his first wife, the wealthy Beatrice Beckett, in 1950 on grounds of desertion. Two years later he married Churchill's niece, Clarissa Churchill, now 34.

Thus a Churchill will still occupy historic No. 10 in the role of official hostess, after today's changeover.

The divorce in the background was seen here as a sign of changing times. For a divorced man to have served as the sovereign's first minister would have been unthinkable as recently as 20 years ago.

Friendly With First Wife

The social upheavals of World War II, which led to a sharp rise in the divorce rate in peacetime, had wrought deep-seated changes in a country whose established Anglican Church frowns on the remarriage of divorced persons.

Eden has remained on good terms with his former wife, who now lives in New York City, and she told reporters there on learning of his appointment:

"I am delighted at the culmination of this well deserved honor for Sir Anthony, and I wish him every success and happiness."

The changeover in leadership brought only a mild reaction among rank-and-file Londoners, who got the news largely through a grapevine system stemming originally from BBC newscasts. No vast emotional impact had been expected. The feeling appeared to be general that, while Churchill's retirement was a sentiment-provoking event, the old man has had his day and has earned a rest.

Fly U. S. Papers To London

A Pan American Airways official said 9,000 copies of New York newspapers were being flown into London to help spread the news. They are to be given away.

Churchill remained in seclusion in 10 Downing St., in the apartments from where he fashioned Britain's victories in World War II, as the hour drew near for him to move out for the last time. He and Lady Churchill plan a vacation in Sicily.

His personal physician, Lord Moran, called on him this morning and stayed 50 minutes. It was reliably described as a routine visit. There had been some anxiety, however, that the emotional strain of his last day in office would tell on Churchill.

An associate said Churchill was "extremely fit," but had decided months ago to retire because he "has sort of a dread at the idea of having to be carried out of No. 10 Downing St."

End Of Long Climb

For Eden, it was the summit of a long climb which began in December 1923 with his election to the House of Commons from the Warwick and Leamington division. He has held the seat ever since, the last 13 years as Churchill's heir apparent.

Though he had waited patiently for years for the old man to step aside, Eden is younger than any prime minister since Stanley Baldwin first took office in 1923 at 56.

The 80-year-old Churchill, meanwhile, made ready to move from the Prime Minister's residence at No. 10 Downing St. to his country home in Kent, Chartwell. He will leave Tuesday for a vacation in Sicily, his first long holiday in 18 months.

Loyal Britons packed Downing Street until late last night, cheering for the idolized old warrior. The "good old Winnie" shout was heard again and again, and the serenade: "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow."

Waves V Sign

At 8:45 p.m. he leaned from a window, waved his cigar and beamed. But the clamor continued until he appeared at a window again at 11:40. Wearing a red dressing gown, he smiled, gave his famous V sign, then waved his arms in good-humored dismissal. The curtains closed and the lights snapped out.

After his return from Sicily, Churchill is expected to remain in the House of Commons as an ordinary member. But his voice as an elder statesman still will be accorded deep respect in the Western world. In a message to his long-time associate, President Eisenhower said yesterday:

"Out of your great experience, your great wisdom and your great courage, the free world yet has much to gain. And we know that you will never be backward in bringing those qualities forward when we appeal to you for help, as all of us are bound to do."

Refuses Dukedom

The New York Times, in a dispatch from London last night, said Queen Elizabeth had offered Churchill a dukedom but that he had refused so he could remain in the House of Commons. He previously refused an earldom in 1945 because it too would have moved him to the House of Lords.

The change in government leadership meant a continuance of Britain's close association with America, the policy Churchill and Eden have administered together since 1951. Eden sees eye to eye with Washington on all major issues except the Formosa crisis.

The British leader feels Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist forces should evacuate the islands of Quemoy and Matsu, just off Red China's coast.

Anthony Eden Steps Into His Heritage; Years Of Preparation

Editor's Note—What kind of man is the new Prime Minister of Britain? This is the first in a series of articles giving the answers. The writer has been an AP correspondent in Europe since 1938.

LONDON (AP)—If ever a man was trained to be prime minister of Great Britain, that man is Sir Anthony Eden.

For more than half of his 57 years, Eden has been a member of the House of Commons. For about a quarter of a century he has been the fair-haired boy of the Conservative party. Most everyone, including Eden himself, felt that someday he must become prime minister.

Now Eden steps into his heritage, made of 10 Downing St.

In Papers Since '23

The British themselves are giving him a new scrutiny. He has been on the scene and in the papers since 1923, when he first came up to Parliament from Leamington. He was the promising young man, a hustling man who got things done smoothly, and served his prime ministers and his country in highly important but in somewhat junior capacities. Like the Prince of Wales (now Duke of Windsor) before him, there was a tendency to think of him as being perpetually young, and not yet quite ready for major responsibilities.

That's all over.

In their new appraisal, the British see, superficially and first of all, just about the most presentable man in the Commonwealth.

Hot Temper Underneath

He has a hot temper underneath, but the first impression is one of easy charm. He has been everywhere. He has seen just about everything. He fought in Flanders like most Englishmen of his age. There was no easy command for Capt. Eden—he went over the top on dark nights. Once on the Somme, under star shells and machine-gun fire, he dragged back a sergeant whose thigh bone had been shattered.

Eden radiates a reserved warmth, as befits a man of centuries of aristocratic background. He speaks knowledgeably about most anything. He is slim, tall and well dressed. The Eden moustache, once quite a bush, is like a properly cropped English hedge.

Not Clothes Horse

His hair is becoming grayer, and the lines of his face more pronounced. There is a suggestion of a fold under the chin.

Eden has a feel for clothes. Yet, say his close associates, he pays comparatively little attention to what he wears.

Three times foreign secretary, Churchill's other half, war secretary, the man who scolded Mussolini and helped write the United Nations Charter does not fancy being regarded a clothes horse.

VIET NAM GETS NEW COUNCIL

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Premier Ngo Dinh Diem moved Tuesday to meet objections by religious and political sects to his government by setting up a high political council. But there were doubts that its establishment would satisfy dissident groups.

The South Viet Nam government announced it would create the new council to advise the premier on broad lines of policy. Representatives of the sects would be included among its members.

It seemed particularly unlikely such a council would placate the Binh Xuyen Society, one of three important dissident groups, which is now in armed revolt against the government.

The Binh Xuyen has demanded establishment of a high council holding sweeping executive power on which the Premier would be only one of several equal members.

The Binh Xuyen—like its allies the Cao Dai and Hoa Hao Religious Sects—controls its own private army. It is an organization of ex-irregular pirates and controls the vice in Saigon.

Diem said he would begin consultations soon on makeup of the council.

He said the high council's mission will be:

"1. To elaborate the broad lines of general policy and plans of action in the national interest which will be submitted to the premier.

"2. To give to the government all advice and suggestions relative to questions of public interest."

DEMOCRATS TAKE MICHIGAN

DETROIT (AP)—Democratic Gov. G. Mennen Williams' loyal legions in Wayne (Detroit) County appeared Tuesday to have given him almost complete control of Michigan's state government.

Returns from 3,508 of the state's 4,783 precincts in Monday's spring election showed the Democratic state ticket leading by more than 30,000 votes.

Last fall Williams won his fourth two-year term as governor. He was the first governor to do so. He also captured the bulk of administrative offices.

WORLD OPIUM SMUGGLING RING IS BROKEN UP

ROME (AP)—A multimillion-dollar smuggling ring whose opium and morphine has been smashed.

Lebanese customs officers, cooperating with the U.S. Bureau of Narcotics and police of Syria, Turkey, Italy, France and Egypt, are officially reported here to have:

1. Seized 500 pounds of opium.
2. Confiscated 43 pounds of morphine base.

Made six important arrests and obtained confessions tracing another 1,089 pounds of opium and 24 pounds of morphine base which slipped into Europe bound for America.

Middle East Smugglers
4. Broken up what a veteran police officer described as one of the four great opium smuggling rings in the Middle East.

5. Identified a Lebanese as king of the ring. He is still at large but a warrant has been issued for his arrest.

6. Cracked the smuggler's "secret weapon"—a ray British Jaguar sports car so sleek and expensive that European customs agents usually waved it past in the belief it contained wealthy tourists. The automobile was honeycombed with secret compartments for dope.

The dope involved would have been worth nearly two million dollars to American peddlers.

A separate branch of the same ring smuggled hashish to Egypt in small coastal vessels.

The investigation traced the

The Junior League of Zion Lutheran Church met Thursday evening in the parish house and made 19 Easter baskets for the sick, the shut-ins and the aged of the parish. The baskets contained colored eggs and Easter novelties. The Junior League is under the supervision of Mrs. Verle Schumacher.

From there it went to Beirut, headquarters of the gang, or to Aleppo. Then it was smuggled to France, reprocessed and was to be shipped into the United States.

Undercover agents of several nations trailed the first suspects until police had photographs and fingerprints of the gang's members both in Beirut and France.

Then the crackdown began. More arrests are expected.

pervision of Mrs. Verle Schumacher.

Mr. and Mrs. John Snyder, Cape Vincent, N. Y., are visiting relatives here.

The Rev. Verle Schumacher, pastor of Zion Lutheran Church, administered the sacrament of baptism on Sunday at 1:30 p.m. to the following: Marilyn Jane Sowers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Sowers; Keith Edward Dick and Wendy Marie Dick, son and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lennis Dick; and James Richard Russell, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Russell. Following the regular morning worship service in Zion Lutheran Church, Cash Day was held. Money received amounted to $1,654. This amount was given through individual contributions and from the church organizations and will be used in making repairs and painting the interior of the church.

Mrs. Joseph Bushey, president of the NCOO of St. Mary's Church, presided at the meeting held Sunday evening in the church social rooms. Mrs. Bushey asked the members to bring a new baby garment to the May meeting. These will be sent for the use of Catholic charities. Plans were made for the

WATER IS SAFE IN CINCINNATI DESPITE BLASTS

CINCINNATI (AP)—Radio activity that got into drinking water in Cincinnati, in the heart of the United States, following the 1954 hydrogen tests in the Pacific, was "about 500 times less than the levels of radio activity permissible in drinking water with complete safety," a U.S. Public Health Service doctor said Tuesday.

And, he added, the amount also was "very much less than you would find anytime in naturally radioactive spring waters, such as hot springs, where people bathe for their health and which they may occasionally drink."

But Dr. L. R. Setter declared this situation could change for the worse in the future in any area where there might be "greatly increased" radioactivity in the atmosphere as a result of any bombs.

Quick Techniques

He added, though, that government radioactivity sleuths have now developed quick techniques for figuring radioactivity in surface waters by spot-checking the amount of such activity in rainfall.

And this, he said, would come in handy in monitoring drinking water supplies in the future.

He made the comments in an interview after a report to the American Chemical Society's 127th national meeting in which he described periodic analyses of both rainfall and the water of a cistern and an impounded pond in the Cincinnati area—in the heart of the United States—over a period of eight months after the Pacific tests.

"The low radioactive level found in rain (and even lower in the other waters) may be considered of little significance from a public health standpoint," he told the chemists. "However, the study could have direct application and significance if greatly increased levels of radioactivity were present in an area."

Communion Breakfast to be served the members of the First Communion Class on Sunday, May 8. Mrs. Stuart Sites, Mrs. Howard Reindollar and Mrs. Harry Bowling, members of the nominating committee, reported the nomination of the following: President, Mrs. Joseph Bushey; vice president, Mrs. Harry Kane; secretary, Mrs. Robert Davis; and treasurer, Mrs. Fred Johnson. The above were elected to serve as officers for the coming year. The meeting closed with prayer.

Visitors at the home of Mrs. Ella Reid on Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Ira Stouffer, of Waynesboro, R. I., and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Smalz and Mrs. Mary Kershner, Hagers-town.

The interior of the John Shultz store has been remodeled by the installation of new gondolas, a rearrangement of the merchandise, walls repainted and additional carts made available.

Mrs. Olmer Spence is recovering from burns received at her home Saturday while preparing dinner.
